

Attachment Research Mentorship Program Launched

The first cohort of the Attachment Research Mentorship (ARM) program came together for an introductory meeting in October, with mentees and mentors from 7 countries in attendance. The goal of this program is to nurture mentees' supportive networks and foster professional growth in the field of attachment research and practice.

2025-2027 Introducing mentee-mentor pairings

Elizabeth Freehling
Eastern Michigan University, USA
Sheri Madigan
University of Calgary, Canada

Eva Sprecher
University College London, UK
Jessie Borelli
University of California, Irvine, USA

Gabrielle Myre
Université du Québec à Montréal, Canada
Robbie Duschinsky
Cambridge University Primary Care Unit, UK

Haley Herbert
University of Iowa, USA
Deboraah Jacobvitz
University of Texas at Austin, USA

Sarah Freeman
Eastern Michigan University, USA
Francesca Penner
Baylor University, USA

Selina Ismair
Paracelsus Medical University Salzburg, Austria
Daphna Dollberg Gino
Academic College of Tel Aviv Yaffo, Israel

Shirley Liu
King's College London, UK
Jane Barlow
University of Oxford, UK

Sophie Weinmann
Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich, Germany
Audrey-Ann Deneault
Université du Québec à Montréal, Canada

William Trottier-Dumont
Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières, Canada
Carlo Schenguel
Vrije universiteit Amsterdam, Netherlands

Aylin Aras
University College London, UK
Miriam Steele
New School, USA

